"Spaceship medicine is a short story about a strategy I used to "game-ify" my studies during my preclinical years. This comic was drawn on an Apple iPad using the Procreate app."

Shubhi Singh is an MS4 who will soon graduate from the CUNY School of Medicine / Sophie Davis Biomedical Education Program centered in Harlem, New York. Originally an artist drawn to prose, she began exploring comic creation as a form of storytelling during her clinical years. Singh is excited to begin her pediatrics internship in the fall of this year.
